FINDINGS OF OSBORNE

Reaches Many Conclusions During First Day at Sing Sing.

OSSENG, N. Y., December 1.—Here are a few of the observations expressed publicly by Thomas Mott Osborne at the conclusion of his first day as warden of Sing Sing Prison: "The cells in the six-time block must go. They are not fit habitations for pigs. They are damp and productive of disease, especially of tuberculosis. "The coffee served the prisoners is the vilest stuff I ever tasted. I tried to drink some, but had to take cocoa. "There is not enough work to go around. I think the best way will be to put the men on two-hour shifts, and allow them opportunity for athletic exercise in addition. "I am going to allow the prisoners to talk. I think the policy of silence is diabolical. It is bad as the dark-cell treatment, which has been abolished at the demand of an outraged civilization. "Before I leave the prison, I hope to see capital punishment abolished."
